The musical adaptation of the smash 1990 romantic comedy “Pretty Woman” will play a tryout run at Chicago’s Oriental Theater this Spring 2018. It will have its Broadway opening July 20, 2018 with a creative team that includes musician Bryan Adams and Garry Marshall, the late director of the film, as well as a cast led by Samantha Barks, one of the stars of the film version of “Les Miserables,” and Tony winner Steve Kazee (“Once”).

Pretty Woman will have a score by Adams, whose 40-year career in music has included a string of hits such as “Summer of ’69” and “I Do It For You,” and frequent collaborator Jim Vallance, with book by writer-director-producer Marshall (who died in 2016) and J.F. Lawton, who penned the screenplay for the film. Jerry Mitchell (“Kinky Boots,” “On Your Feet!”) directs and choreographs.
